The walk is approximately 2.5 miles and is relatively easy although, as some areas may be muddy at times, the wearing of suitable outdoor clothing and footwear is advised.

Introduction/Route

- The walk begins in Pendeford Hall Lane opposite the mobile home park. The mobile home park was the site of Pendeford Hall, which was the seat of the Fowler family, the principal landowners in the area.
- The walk turns left along the diverted bridleway, running parallel with the hedge along Lawn Lane before turning right and heading east towards Middle Lane.
- Just before the road, turn sharp left into Middle Lane, an old Holloway and bridleway between two hedges.
- Just before the M54 bridge, the walk turns right, in between the Jaguar Land Rover Engine Manufacturing Plant and the M54 motorway.
- The walk turns south across the entrance to JLR and into Clewley Coppice.
- Proceed through Clewley Coppice, known for its beautiful carpet of English Bluebells in the late Spring/early Summer. Clewley Coppice is an ancient semi-natural woodland and was associated with Clewley House which once stood on the right side of the path. Follow the path south to the Wobaston Road.
- The walk turns right along Wobaston Road and enters Shooting Pit Wood, a post-war plantation on ancient woodland soils.
- Continue through the wood and into a new plantation containing four ponds before turning north and returning to the starting point.

The Monarch's Way

The Monarch's Way is a long-distance walk of 625 miles using footpaths and bridleways which closely follow the route taken by Charles II after his defeat at the Battle of Worcester on the 3rd of September 1651. The section that passes through the Civil Parish of Bilbrook is part of the 11½ mile route from Boscobel to Moseley Old Hall.
